GENTLEMEN

Keep Cool, Conditions are Changing—Observe the Signs of the Times.

Woman is a Mighty Factor in the World's Progress—Long Held in Silence.

Her Rights Are Being Recognized and Her Merit Appreciated.

We, in Kentucky, have so long been accustomed to women keeping quiet that we may be surprised to learn that women have merited and received recognition in other public assemblies than those religious.

In Utah a woman has been elected to the State Senate. Just think of it!
Mr. Cannon is a Republican. Mr.
Cannon, his wife, is a Democrat. He was a candidate for the Senate; so was she. Result: Mrs. Cannon will sit as a member of that august assembly.

Some man may say: "Yes, that has occurred in Utah; that's where Mormons have ruled; what else could you expect from Utah?"
A special from Denver, Col., says:
"Three women will serve as Representatives from Arapahoe county.
They are Mrs. Olive C. Butler, Mrs.
Evangeline Hearz and Mrs. M. A. B.
Cunne."

We give below brief sketches of the women:

"Mrs. Butler was born in the Charlestown district of Boston, Mass., under the shadow of the Bunker Hill Monument. In 1866 she was married to Simpson D. Butler, of Lynn, and they moved to Denver in 1880. Mrs.
Butler is a great worker in the Women's Relief Corps, and is past Department Secretary for Colorado and Wyoming.

"Mrs. Evangeline Hearz is a daughter of Charles Clay, of Dundas, Prince Edward's Island. During an agitation which arose last year against a proposed exclusive purchase of real estate for park purposes, Mrs. Hearz came into public notice as an active worker with other women against the ordinance, which was finally defeated.

The club women of Denver have elected as their representative Mrs.
Martha A. B. Cunne. Mrs. Cunne is the wife of John M. Cunne, a lumber dealer. She is now serving her second term as President of the Northwest Women's Club."

Social and political reforms sometimes come as "landslides," but usually many years of education are necessary to change customs of long standing.
Here in Kentucky we are rather slow in yielding to such innovations as permit women to hold office and vote, and away the people with her oratory in political discussion. Of course there are men—good men, very wise men—who will object to women being candidates. At the risk of being called "cranks" we wish to state that we are heartily in favor of women being candidates for matrimony.
We have advocated this for—years, and hope they will be elected. Not only do we advocate such a candidacy, but we must confess our weakness (2) when we say that so far as is consistent with the Divine will we believe that woman's voice ought to be heard and mightily influence felt, in advocating and executing those measures which make for righteousness and justice, purity or peace, whether it pertains to taxation, representation on school boards, in legislative halls or to preserving the purity and happiness of their homes against the encroachment and corrupting influence of vice legalized or carried on by common consent.

"Honor to woman, to her it is given
To triumph with the world with the roses of heaven,
She treads on each altar that's hallowed to feeling
And keeps ever burning the fire."

A Card.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. wish to thank Messrs. Chenault and Baird for the use of the Court House and lights on the night of Mrs. Hoffman's lecture; also thank Mr. Howard for his services which we appreciate.
Gentlemen we will not forget our debt of gratitude.

Circuit Judge Howard appeared before the City Council Thursday night and offered to finish the work being done on Main street between Fourth and Bank row, and put the streets on both sides and in the rear of Court House in good order if the city would allow the free use of their rock quarry to the county. The Judge represented the Fiscal Court in this matter, and the object is to give the new turnpike machinery a trial test and they have preferred to try the durability of the road in a place where it would have a great deal of heavy travel. The matter was referred to the Improvement committee with power to act, and it is thought that they will accept the offer and the work begin next Tuesday, when the experts arrive. They are to be here ten days learning local men how to operate the outfit. Judge Howard the citizens of the county will be agreedly surprised when they see what kind of roads they are to have.

A NEGRO ROW.

One Man Fatally Hurt and Another Painfully Wounded.

An affray that resulted in the fatal cutting of one man and the wounding of another occurred on South Mayville street Sunday evening about 7 o'clock.

At the hour named Wes. Hamilton and Tom Everett, negroes, both of them full of mean whisky, engaged in a quarrel in the street near Smith & Shrout's livery stable. The first that attracted the attention of those within hearing was Everett's appeal for help, that he was being murdered. At this a couple of negroes ran in to separate the men. Hamilton made a savage lunge with his knife at each of them, succeeding in cutting through the clothes of Oliver Fletcher, but not otherwise injuring him. Upon this Fletcher drew his pistol and shot Hamilton. Officers at this juncture ran up and arrested the entire party.
It was found that Hamilton, in his savage attack on Everett, had so well gotten in his work that his victim was

SUNDAY TRAFFIC

Discussed by the White Ribbon
Women at St. Louis.

International Co operation in Railway Work Essential.

St. Louis, Nov. 14.—At the W. C.
T. U. convention this morning Mrs.
Caroline M. Wood, of Nebraska, Superintendent of the work among railroad men, reported that Sunday traffic was regarded by the department as a serious infringement upon the rights of employees. Local freight and passenger trains had been generally discontinued on Sunday, but "extra" stock trains were now sent out. An effort was making to reach conscientious christian men in the stock-raising regions and induce them to refrain from loading stock or having it in transit on Sunday.

Patronage of Sunday mail and passenger trains had been uniformly decreased, and each year deepened the conviction that the "industry and membership of the Christian church were responsible for many of the burdens imposed upon the world's rest day." International co-operation in railway work was essential to further development.

CARRIED

BY PALMER AND BUCKNER.

One Precinct Captured in the State of Kansas.

The only precinct or township in Kansas carried by Palmer and Buckner, is Dudley township, in Haskell county, in the short grass country.
In that township five Democrats voted the Indianapolis ticket and carried it by one plurality. Against this Mc-Kinley and Hobart had four votes, Bryan and Sewall two votes and Bryan and Watson one vote.

The Palmer and Buckner men felt so elated over their victory that on the Saturday after the election they mounted bronchos and led the Mc-Kinley and Hobart and Bryan and Watson voters in chains around the township. The two Bryan and Sewall men stood aloof from the festivities.

Utah August Cannon was the Republican candidate for the State Senate for the Sixth district, but his wife, Mrs. Mattie Cannon, who was the Democratic candidate, beat him badly.

Dr. Billing was beaten in his race for member of the Lexington School Board, the full Republican ticket being elected. He ran ahead of his votes, however, receiving fifty more votes than any other Democratic candidate.

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from the physician, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Lullaby Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y. Cataract in the Head
Is a dangerous disease. It may lead directly to consumption. Cataract is caused by impure blood, and the true way to cure it is by purifying the blood. RELIGIOUS.

Do not forget the prayer meetings Wednesday night.

The Woman's Prayer Meeting will be held at Christian Church on Saturday at 2:30.

Rev. John Reeves, Presiding Elder, preached two excellent sermons at Methodist Church on Sunday.

Rev. Maddox, recently elected pastor at Howard's Mill and Jeffersonville will preach at Howard's Mill on the fifth Sunday in this month.

The Thanksgiving service will be held this year at the Baptist church. Sermon will be preached by Rev. J. W. Mitchell of the Methodist church.

Rev. J. H. Taylor, of Charleston, S. C., will preach at the Southern Presbyterian church next Sunday at 11, a. m., and at Old Springfield church at 2:30 in the afternoon. All are cordially invited to hear him.

A message was received on yesterday announcing the death of Mr. Joe Plank, a noted and highly respected citizen of Fleming county. He was a brother of Mr. James Plank and brother-in-law of M. M. and A. J. Casady, of this city.

A protracted meeting will begin at the Baptist church in this city next Sunday morning. The pastor will be assisted by Rev. Porter of Pee Wee Valley. Mr. Porter is a preacher of great attractions and has accomplished great good where ever he has been. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

At the First Presbyterian church, Sunday morning and evening, the pulpit was filled by the pastor Rev. A. J. Arrick. There was a fair attendance at both services. A special feature of the day was the singing of Miss Flora Plank.

G. B. Lane, of Flat Creek, drew the store at W. Reed's. This was no lottery scheme.

HER DREAM DISSIPATED.

Gail Hamilton's Idea of a Woman's Bank Proves Chimerical.

"Gail Hamilton," said a Philadelphia banker to a Bulletin reporter recently, "was a very able woman, but like a good many other women, and men, too, for that matter, she did not understand finance. Her ignorance on this subject led her to make a grave mistake at one time, and thereby hangs one of the most curious tales of human incredulity that ever came to light."

"About 18 or 20 years ago a woman named Howe opened a bank of deposit in Boston. It had several peculiar features, among which were: It was owned and operated by women; the accounts only of women were solicited, though there was a proviso that the sterner sex should be allowed the privilege of depositing money, though under no circumstances would they ever be allowed a voice in the management; no limit was to be made, as in ordinary savings banks, as to the amount that would be secured on deposit."

"This was all very well, and if there were nothing more to the innovation might do—for Boston. But the circular went up with the startling announcement that the rate of interest would be a per cent a month! Not only that, but this rate of interest was in all cases to be paid in advance!"

"One would think that such an absurd proposition would be laughed at in any intelligent community, but it was not, and the bank was actually in operation in Boston for over a year. The concern was located in a fashionable quarter of the city and did a rattling business."

The Howe woman, if she did not understand banking, as she afterward acknowledged at her trial, certainly understood the business she was engaged in, which was simply to 'get all you can and keep all you get.' The bank was patronized by 'high and low, rich and poor, and here every outward evidence of prosperity. A few of the knowing ones, who sat on the ground floor, made money out of it, for it was only necessary for any one to deposit $1,000, say, and get back $1,480 in six months."

"It was only by accident that the concern was exposed. A servant girl in the family of a banker had an account in the woman's bank, and her employer saw it and began to investigate. The story got into the papers, and the bubble burst. Great was the consternation among the women folks, and Mrs. Howe came out with a pronouncement, saying that the bank was all right and would continue to do business, but three days later the concern was arrested by the sheriff, and Mrs. Howe was arrested."

"Gail Hamilton was among the woman's dupes. She wrote a two column article in defense of Mrs. Howe, in which she intimated very plainly that the failure of the bank was entirely due to the jealousy of the men; that Mrs. Howe and her system were all right, and that all bankers could pay 8 per cent a month if they wanted to."

"Of course there were lots of people who could see after the bank failed that no one could pay 8 per cent a month, and she was mercilessly ridiculed in the press, and from the fact that she never returned on the slightest provocation. I guess her friends got hold of her and kept her quiet."

"How much did Mrs. Howe get away with?"

"I forget the amount, but it was something over $500,000,"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Skates made of Gold and Jewels.

Skates made of the most costly metals and ornamented with precious stones, grow common in this country every year among the richer classes.

On the continent of Europe—in Russia especially—skates made entirely of gold, except as regards one part of the blade, have been given as presents for years. I have seen, in the possession of one of the Russian diplomatic staff, a pair of skates worth quite $4,000, and it is quite common among the wealthy class to have every portion of the skates ornamented with precious stones.

The empress of Austria has a pair of skates, and uses them, too, which are said to have cost $10,000. Lately the young queen of Holland was presented with a beautiful pair, with chased golden blades and a profuse diamond ornamentation, which cost half that amount.—Edmund Russell.

Don't let your eyes wander from a story is told you that taxes your patience, or endeavor to listen to some more amusing conversation around you. "Eyes" and "ears" will be speculated inappropriately and your intelligence put to a severe test. It has been written, "They are never alone that are accompanied with idle thoughts," but when you are with your fellows and move in the world of society above all things let those thoughts be "seated in the hearts of courtesy."

MOUNT SHASTA.

How It Feels To Near the Crater in the Month of August.

Late in the afternoon we selected a level place near a bank of snow at an elevation of about 5,500 feet, and, gathering a few logs of dead pines, we made a roasting fire, and at nightfall inrolled our heavy California blankets, sleeping nearer the stars than I ever had before. It was a clear, cold night. The water froze nearly an inch thick, and at 6:15 the next morning, when we began our ascent of the crater, the thermometer was 25 degrees F.

We rode our horses for an hour until we came to the foot of the ash cone, and by 8:45 were on the summit of the crater. The view in the snow clad solitary Lassen peak, 12,000 feet high, while Klamath lakes and the lava beds, the seat of the late Modoc war, lay to the north-eastward.

The cone was a wild one within the great crater, whose narrow edge is formed of sharp, jagged peaks and pinnacles. Broad, almost unbroken snowfields extended from the cone down to 1,500 feet. At the bottom were two frozen lakes like sheets of glass. The crater was extinct, no signs of steam or of recent eruptions meeting the eye. We were told that on the summit of the cone once stood solitary Lassen peak, the last dying embers of past volcanic action. Mr. Sisson, while guiding a traveler to the summit, was once belated and had to spend the night there and saved the lives of himself and his companion by lying close to the steam vent, the steam passing up through the snow. On their descent they slid down over the snowfield of the summit to the lava beds below.

The outlet of the crater, or point of overflow at the last eruption, was on the western side, where small masses of black obsidian and white incrustations of lime were observed.—Professor A. S. Peckard in Popular Science Monthly.

They Were Rich.

"The best joke I ever heard was on me," said J. D. Balford to a reporter.

"I was in Wise county, Va., in the heart of the mountains, in the south-western part of the Old Dominion. I am a Virginian, and in common with all loyal Virginians claim kinship with every one of my name in the state. The landlady saw my name on the road."

"So 'yo' name's Balford?" he said.

"'Yes."

"'Uter to sum Balfords hyar."

"'Well, they must have been relatives. My family are all Virginians."

"'Yas. Yo' do favor 'em. Reck on 'yo' all air kin. Yo' look jess like Dave."

"My father's name was Dave."

"'That was three—Bob, John and Dave."

"I have uncles by those names. They are family names."

"'Yo' air kin. I thought so, nint I looked at 'em."

"'You say the Balfords moved away."

"'Not exactly."

"I thought you said they used to live here."

"That's what I said. Yo' see, John an' Dave was Bob's sons. The ole man was gwine for marry agin, so the boys wouldn't get the little property of their father, so they kill 'im, so we hung John an' Dave."

"I do not trace the relationship or the family resemblance any farther."—Washington Star.

A Gentleman's Children.

A peasant was taking some pears to his new neighbor, who was exceedingly ugly. As he entered the house he found two large apes dressed in uniform and with swords at their sides. They seized his basket and devoured each of them, half a dozen of the best pears. The peasant, who had seen creatures of this kind, saluted them courteously and allowed them to do what they pleased. When he had made his present, his neighbor, laughing, asked him how he had bought his basket full. "Because," he replied, "messieurs vos enfants as I entered seized my basket and took those that are missing."—Cornhill Magazine.

Out of Hearing.

The class of promoted stood before the teacher, who was making out her list of pupils.

"What's your father's first name?" also inquired of one of the primary school.

"My first name."

"What does your mother call him?"

"Nothing."

Oh, she must have some name for her baby, she wants him, who does she call him?"

"She don't call him at all," was the reply. "He's dead."—Pittsburgh Bulletin.

OVER CHILKOOT PASS.

Shooting Miles—A Canyon and White Horse Rapids on the Yukon.

This canyon was named by the late Lieutenant Frederick Schwatka in honor of General Nelson A. Miles, who had been instrumental in sending him on his trip to the Yukon in 1883. The river, which has been about 300 feet wide, suddenly contracts to about one-fourth of that width, and, increasing its velocity to 20 miles an hour, rushes with terrific force through a canyon with absolutely perpendicular walls 100 feet high. The canyon is only three-quarters of a mile long, and at its lower end the river spreads out into a series of rapids, culminating three miles below in the White Horse. There are two ways of passing this canyon—one, by portaging over the hill on the east bank, and the other, by boldly running through. We had seen both ways of passing Miles Canyon, but only saw the first on the other two minutes. We three looked at each other in an inquiring sort of way, and then without a word walked down to where the rapids were. The bank all took their places, kneeling and facing the bow, McCoull in the stern, Matten amidships and I forward. The oars were placed on board, and each of us used an ordinary canoe paddle.

I must confess that I never felt sicker in my life than as we shoved away from shore and stored for the entrance. It was all over so quickly that we hardly knew what happened. Barely missing the big rock at the mouth of the canyon, the boat started on its wild ride. The walls seemed to fairly fly past us, and after starting we had a clear view from the rocks above, but did not dare look up. By frantic paddling we kept in the middle and off from the canyon walls. This was a task that was not of raising a ladder, but of there was not a dry spit on one of us when we got through, and the boat had taken on so much water that she nearly foundered before we could land her. But a great weight was off our minds for Miles Canyon, more than all other things, is dreaded by Yukon travelers.—From "Over the Chilkoot Pass to the Yukon," by Frederick Fanson, in Scribner's.

Episode In Li Hung Chang's Career.

There is an episode in the career of Li Hung Chang which is never alluded to in the promiscuous interviews which his excellency is in the habit of granting to ladies and gentlemen in search of copy. It is in his career as a student, and the discussion of hemp ropes in certain families. The Taiping devastation swept over his province when he was still a young man, and he was made a captive of the rebels. There was a great absence of scholarship among the Taipings, and as they were constantly putting out imposing predictions they were obliged to give a decent or even an intelligible literary form for those state papers. Young Li was a literary graduate of the first class. Instead of killing him, as they were wont to kill those who fell into their hands, the Taipings had the sense to employ their scholar captive in writing out their placards and manifestoes, and to this happy adaptation of means to ends the world owes its Li Hung Chang. How he escaped from his captors is unknown to the present writer, but this is certain—that he has never forgotten those who befriended him at that time. Indeed it is supposed that his loyalty to the families of his benefactors has cost him much, for it has led to his keeping about him the unworthy sons of perhaps worthy fathers, unprofitable servants who could neither credit to their patron nor advantage to the state.—Cornhill Magazine.

Joan of Arc's Devotion to the King.

For her king, who had so cowardly abandoned her, she retained a passionate worship. He was her consolation of France. He was her banner. One day during the trial she said: "I never forgot the king of France of heresy, whereat, torn with indignation, Joan cried out, 'By my faith, sir, with all reverence due to you, I dare say and swear under penalty of my life, that he is the most Christian of all Christians, he who best loves the law and the church. He is not wart you say.' In such a cry we feel that she uttered a fervent and honest soul."—The National Hero of France, by Maurice Bontet de Monvel, in Century.

Unrecalled Dreams.

The subject of dreams is one of the most intricate and perplexing in the entire field of mental philosophy, and it has not yet met with that amount of attention which its importance would seem to demand. Sir William Hamilton, the great metaphysician, holds that "whether we recollect our dreams or not, we always dream." To have no recollection of our dreams does not prove that we have no dreams, for we can often be shown that we have dreamed, though the dream has left no trace upon our memory.—London Light.

He was sitting in the conservatory with half a dozen smiling girls when a young patron and find out what was the matter—whether it was the cooking, or the service, or the price, or whether there was a feeling about that objectionable people who were there."

In a few days the friend came back with an astonishing story.

"It isn't your wines, or your food, or your prices," he said, "and there is no count at all. The matter is one about your place. It's your new decorations and electric lights. The peculiar shade of green on your walls is deadly to a woman with rouge or powder on her face. The new zone but complexions of six years and under can endure it. Besides, your electric lamps are so arranged that they kill the effect of delicate tints of skin and make the face wearing again this year. The woman did not know what was the matter with each other for awhile, but they soon found out, and nothing will induce them to come here."

From that day the patronage of the famous hotel began to wane until finally it went into the hands of a receiver, who sold the furniture at auction and closed the doors.—New York Letter in Chicago Record.

STORY OF A FAILURE.

The Lights and Decorations Spoiled the Good Looks of Women.

I heard a curious story in New York the other day about how the vanity of women ruined one of the famous hotels. I will give no names, but those who were in the habit of visiting New York 15 years ago will identify it, for it was not only patronized by the most advanced set of upstart, but was the favorite stopping place for foreigners. Its restaurant was also the popular dining place for the "swagger" set and the only formidable rival of Delmonico they had. Its name was given to brands of wine and cigars and was adopted by ambitious little hotels all over the country.

The proprietors were coining money, and at the end of a certain season which marked high tide in their prosperity they decided to introduce some novelties in the way of decorations and scientific effects that would be attractive to their patrons and add to their fame. Their restaurant was closed during the summer, and in the fall was opened with a flurry that awakened New York. It was so thronged every night at dinner time that its regular patrons had to engage tables two and three days ahead, and strangers who were not up to that trick were compelled to wait until the flush of the show was over or go away disappointed. A boy in buttons used to sit near the cashier's desk, with a book handily bound in red morocco, taking the names of people who intended to dine there during the next week or two and the number of plates each would require. And it was the great show place for new gowns and jewels. Women who had just returned from Paris and who had the latest new things were there then first, and that few drew others who were not so fortunate, but quite as anxious to see the latest styles.

But within a few weeks the patronage of the place began rapidly to fall off, and before the middle of the season it was half empty every night. Women with handsome gowns and jewels never came again, and the proprietors did not know what to make of it. Finally one of those confided in a gentleman friend who knew everything and asked him to make a quiet canvass among their former patrons and find out what was the matter—whether it was the cooking, or the service, or the price, or whether there was a feeling about that objectionable people who were there."

In a few days the friend came back with an astonishing story.

Chillblows, Nov. 12.—How political statistics of the resumption of business are manufactured is shown by a dispatch purporting to be from this city, published in the New York World on Sunday in an article headed "Unparalleled Resumption of Business in Four Days." Among the dispatches is one dated "Chillblows, Ohio," and in it was given a list of industries said to have opened up and increased their force since the election. In it were the following:

Business, Men.

Marion Wagon Works Co., 200

National Tin Plate Co., 100

Armstrong Wire Nail Co., 400

Columbia Encaustic Tile Co., 60

Of these four it says the Marion Wagon Works exists, and it employs about 40 men. No new industries have opened here since the election; none were shut down before it. The shops of the B. and O. S. W. Railway cut their force and working hours three or four months before election, and began increasing the force and lengthening the time just after it, which they might have done sooner.

In the same article in the World is given the little village of Anderson, in Ross County, Ohio, which boasts one glass elevator and a blacksmith shop. The World, however, credits it with the "Arcade Tire Company" and the "Anderson Iron and Bolt Company," the two employing 150 men, and opened since election. The blacksmith shop has been magnified into a bolt works and the proprietor and his boy have grown to be 160 men—on paper.

In Lumber Prices To Be Made Soon—Big Advance.

Chicago, November 10.—A local paper says: "The Lumbermen's Association of the city met, with a full attendance, last night and passed resolutions, but none of them were of much importance. The price of lumber has been on a steady decline since 1893. The dealers who bought since they have only taken a step toward the price they will ask before next spring if the tide of property continues. Some dealers believe lumber will sustain an additional advance of from one to two dollars a thousand feet, the increasing amount of building serving as the warrant for the subsequent advances."

FIRST ADDRESS

In the Campaign of 1900 Made By Senator Pettigrew.

Sinclair Falls, N. B., November 10.—Senator Pettigrew, over the campaign of 1900 last night addressed one of the largest audiences ever gathered in this city. It was announced the beginning of the bimillennial fight of four years hence.

The Senator said that he would remember McKinley every day possible for him to demonstrate that the tariff was what ailed the country, but would not put himself on record by saying that he would resist every section of a tariff bill that provided for tariff by a tariff. This created a sensation, and the demonstration that followed was tremendous. The Senator received a great reception at the close of his speech.

Offensive Catarrh.

Catarrh is seemingly one of the most complicated of ailments, and one which the doctors are absolutely unable to cure. The reasons for this are easily explained. Catarrh is a blood disease and only a blood remedy can effect it. The various sprays, douches and washes which are employed as a local treatment, may, for a time, alleviate the trouble, but no one ever knew of such treatment producing a cure. They can not reach the seat of the disease, as the experience of many sufferers will prove; nothing can do so except a real blood remedy.

In the treatment of Catarrh, S. S. S. has demonstrated the fact that it reaches deep-seated diseases, which other remedies can not touch.

Mr. Chas. A. Parr, the leading wall paper dealer, of Athens, Ga., writes:

"For months I suffered from a severe case of catarrh. The many offensive symptoms were accompanied by severe pains in the head. I took several kinds of medicines recommended for catarrh, and used various local applications, but the disease had become so deep-seated that they had no effect whatever. I was alarmed at my condition, as I knew this disease invariably descended to the lungs, ending in consumption. I was induced to take S. S. S. (Swift's Specific), and after two months I was perfectly well, and have never felt any effects of the disease since."

S. S. S. is the only blood remedy which it is impossible to imitate. There is a substitute for most of them, for they are all alike—contain the same ingredients, and are made in the same manner. But there is no substitute for S. S. S., as it is in every way different from every other blood remedy offered to the public. It is nature's own remedy, being made from roots and herbs gathered from the forests, and contains not a particle of mercury, potash or other drug. It is not a drug remedy, and not a single ingredient can be obtained from a chemist's shop. S. S. S. (Swift's Specific) is the only blood remedy which is guaranteed to be

Purely Vegetable.

All others are founded on mercury and potash.

Deep-seated and obstinate blood troubles, such as Catarrh, Rheumatism, Eczema, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., which other remedies do not reach, yield readily to the curative powers of S. S. S.

Treat the Hog Better.

I saw a hog without hair last spring. Without examining his quarters, I know how the hair was lost. The animal had not a hair on his back all winter. He had weak, damp and muddy. Many a morning when the mercury was playing about zero, the owner would call the hog from the bed to be fed. It came to the stall and it dropped out. It is a wonder it did not kill the hog. If it pays to be a hog owner and cover every day, it pays to be a hog owner and cover every day.

When you see your hogs screaming, you are losing money. The average farmer is apt to forget that naturally the hog is one of the nearest of animals.—W. L. Anderson, Montgomery Co., Indiana.

On the morning of the 14th inst. the destitute stable on the farm of Mrs. W. E. D. Stokoe, near Lexington. The stable contained eight horses, nine of which were burned. The great mare Josie H. was burned; her mate, Miss Rita, was saved. Josie B. and Miss Rita held the world's team pacing record, 2:09; recently made at Lexington.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she clung to Castoria.
When she became a Girl, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

We finish in this issue the address of Mrs. Francis Branchmeyer, President of the Kentucky W. C. T. U., delivered in this city recently. We invite careful reading of this address by every reader of the ADVOCATE. The temperance question is vitally connected with the prosperity, morality, happiness and salvation of our State and nation. A great battle is to be fought. Our homes must be protected from the ravages of the liquor traffic. Let not the opportunity to read this address pass unimproved.

Constipation

Causes fully half the sickness in the world. It retains the digested food too long in the bowels and produces biliousness, torpid liver, indigestion, bad taste, coated tongue, sick headache, insomnia, etc. Hood's Pills cure constipation and all its results, easily and thoroughly. See all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HORSE AND TRACK.

An offer of $5,000 has been refused for Guinette.

Planet won seven races and $5,100 or George Starr this year.

Notonward, a three-year-old brotler to the champion yearling Belle Acron 2:20 1/2, earned a record of 2:12 1/2 in Dallas, Texas.

N. W. Hubinger recently offered to bet $1,000 to $500 that his recent purchase, Pearl Outward 2:10 1/2, could beat Star Point a half mile.

The $5,000 tuturity purse to be trotted at Milan, Italy, in 1898 has sixty-nine bids, of which thirty-four are the get of American bred sires.

E. J. Geers maintains that snow is not good for horse's feet, as it has a tendency to absorb the oil from the hoof, preventing rapid growth, which is very desirable.

Horace Brown, the well known trainer, has returned from Europe and will probably remain in this country a month. On his return two or three likely trotters will go with him.

Mr. T. C. Aglin has sold to Scott Hudson the two year old bay colt by Alfred (son of Electioneer) dam Elvener by Electioneer, for $1,000. This is the colt that Samp Wilson drove a half over the Lexington track last week in 1:09. Last week we stated that this fellow was a pacer, but since then we have learned our mistake. He is a most excellent galloped trotter. He proved a paying investment to Mr. Hudson for the next ten days after his purchase Samp Wilson gave Hudson an advance of $500 for him.

Guinette, 2:08, has made a brilliant campaign in 1896, winning every race in which he started, and pacing the fourth heat over a half-mile track in 2:09. He, together with Little Lorie, Emma Offutt, Eyelet, and others reflects great credit upon his sire, Cecilian Park's famous stallion Gambetta Wilkes, 2:19 1/2. The performers named have all been exceptionally good race horses this year and good money winners.

Churning Done in One Minute.

I have tried the Lightning Churn you recently described in your paper, and it certainly is a wonder. I can churn in less than one minute and the butter is elegant and you get considerably more butter than when you use the common churn. I took the agency here and every butter maker that uses it buys one. I have sold three dozen and they give the best of satisfaction. I know I can sell 100 in this township, as they churn so quickly, make so much more butter than the common churn and are so cheap. Some one in every township can make two or three hundred dollars selling these churns. By addressing J. F. Casey & Co., St. Louis, you can get circulars and full information so you can make big money right at home. I have made $80 in the past two weeks and I never sold anything before in my life. Louisville Tobacco Market

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 1749 bids, with receipts for the same period 529 bids. Sales on our market since January 1 amount to 146,928 bids. Sales of the crop of 1895 on our market to this date amount to 141,418 bids.

Owing to the great interest in the Presidential Election the warehouses concluded it was best not to have any auction sales during that week, so there was no tobacco sold at public outcry until this week.

The Burley market opened on Tuesday a little freer and some easier, but continued to improve and closed strong with prices fully as high as at any time this fall. A few hogheads of new burley were sold, and the market for such was decidedly better. With a good handling season we would expect a decided increase in receipts and sales.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco 1895 crop.

Trash. (Dark or damaged tobacco) $1.00 to $1.50.
Common colory trash, $2.50 to $4.00
Medium to good colory trash, $4.00 to $6.00.
Common lugs, not colory, $2.50 to $3.50.
Common colory lugs, $4.50 to $7.00.
Medium to good colory lugs, $7.00 to $9.00.
Common to medium leaf $6.00 to $9.00.
Medium to good leaf, $9.00 to $14.00.
Good to fine leaf, $14 to $16.
Select wrappery leaf, $16 to $26.00.
The above quotations are not applicable to green and frosty crops.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result every thing else then bought a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such reports, of which there are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in cough and colds. Free trial bottles at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore. Regular size 50c and $1.

Hazel Green Herald.

Rev. Isaac Murphy, one of the oldest preachers and most respected citizens of this section, died, at his residence in Morgan county, this morning, aged about 65 years. He leaves a large family and many relatives and friends to mourn his loss.

Uncle Jimmy Landaw, aged about 80 years, died at his residence, on Stillwater last Sunday, after a lingering illness. He leaves quite a large family and a host of friends and relatives to mourn his death.

A Good Wind Mill—Make it Yourself.

I made one of the People's wind mills which I saw recommended in your paper recently. It only cost me $9.40 and is a splendid mill; my well is deep, but it pumps it all right and with very little wind; the neighbors all like it, and as I am a kind of a carpenter, I have agreed to put up nine mills already, on which I can make a nice profit, and there are many others for whom I can put up mills this fall. I don't see why every farmer should not have a wind mill, when they can make it themselves for less than $10. Any one can get diagrams and complete directions for making the wind mill by sending 18 cent stamp to pay postage, etc., to E. L. Wilson & Co., Alleghen, Pa., and there can be dozens of them put up in any locality by any one that has the energy to do it.

County Court Items

Mrs. Amanda H. Stone sold eleven acres of land on Greenblair to Emma Nickle for $1,000.

Mrs. Martha C. Quisenberry, of this city, sold to A. M. Ogg, of Olym, her residence on corner of High and Green streets for $2,310.

The will of Jas. S. Wills was probated. Also that of Jacob See.

Peter Kelly sold to Mrs. Mary A. Hattie 30 1/2 acres of land on Hinkston Creek for $2,761.50.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find just exactly what they need. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore.

A partial canvass of the city shows that trade with the merchants was good. We give some reports: Denton, Guthrie & Co.—Business good. We got our share.

Hays & Newmeyer—We could not wait on the trade.

Chenault & Punch—A fine trade. A. Bann & Son—Trade excellent. Chiles-Thompson Gro. Co.—Fine trade. The "revival" has set in.

Oldham Bros.—Larger trade than last Court Day.

Trimble Bros., wholesale grocery, were well patronized.

Ferris Wheel a Failure.

Upon the application of creditors, the Ferris Wheel and its belongings at Chicago went into the hands of a receiver the 14th.

Joe Feller has used Dr. Daniel's Colic Cure for years and has never lost a horse by colic. He can't say enough for it. For sale at J. B. Tipton's drug store.

Said to be 120 Years Old.

Elkton, Ky., Nov. 14.—Uncle Henry Blankenship, residing a few miles from this city, and in all probability the oldest man in Kentucky, is dead, aged 120 years. The deceased was born in Chesterfield county, Virginia, March 24, 1776. He was the father of fifteen children, the eldest being seventy and the youngest thirty-six.

A Card.

I hope my friends will show their friendship for me by calling on me at the Chiles-Thompson Grocery Co's establishment I will do my level best to make it interesting to them and as there is no finer store or fancier stock of goods in Eastern Ky., it will not be a difficult thing to do.

H. L. BOARDMAN.

Mr. Hugh Boardman will assist in the sales department of the Chiles-Thompson Grocery Co. till after the holidays. You can look out for something nice now in window-dressing as Hays is a famous hand at that line as well as a good salesman.

THE SICK.

We regret to announce that Mrs. Squire Turner continues very sick.

Mrs. George W. Payne, near Corinth church, is on the sick list.

Will Sydnor, of Bourbon, has been very sick for several weeks with marial fever.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 14.—Rather a warm discussion is in progress in today's meeting of the General Missionary Committee of the M. E. Church, over the question of admitting the Wesleyan Methodists in Germany to the M. E. Church body.

Bishop Fox asserted that the English Wesleyan General Conference is willing to get rid of the German Wesleyan body as being too expensive. He warmly opposed admitting them to the M. E. Conference.

During this morning's session $106,724 was appropriated for Sweden, a reduction of $700. Denmark was allowed $7,600, Finland and Petersburg $4,650. A resolution was adopted thanking Bishop Thoburn for his work in India.

ULSTERS

Horse Jockeys.

In Police Court yesterday five men were fined $5 each for blockading the street while swapping horses. One paid his fine and four were locked up. Others were dismissed with a warning by Judge Turner.

The situation in Cuba is favorable for the Cubans. Captain General Weyler has fallen back before Maceo. The efforts of Spain to conquer the Cubans have thus far failed. Rumors are current of a conflict between Spain and the United States; but you know the election is over and the big paper must have something to talk about. Hurrah for Cuba!
